

What You and Your Family Need to Know About Air Pollution and How it Affects Your Health

A Town Hall Meeting

Sponsored by:

In Conjunction with:
People's Environmental Network of New York

April 21, 2003
From 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.

Institute for Human Performance
Upstate Medical University
505 Irving Street
Syracuse, New York 13210

Agenda

- |                |                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |
|----------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 7:00 pm        | Welcoming RemarksKenneth Olden, PhD, Director, National Institute of Environmental Health SciencesTony DeLucia, Board President, American Lung Association                                                    |
| 7:15 - 8:00 pm | Research FindingsGeorge Thurston, Sc.D. Nelson Institute of Env. Medicine, NYU School of MedicineMark Frampton, MD, University of Rochester Medical CenterJerrold Abraham, MD, Upstate Medical University |
| 8:00 - 9:00 pm | Your Questions Answered                                                                                                                                                                                               |